The Queen's Hat

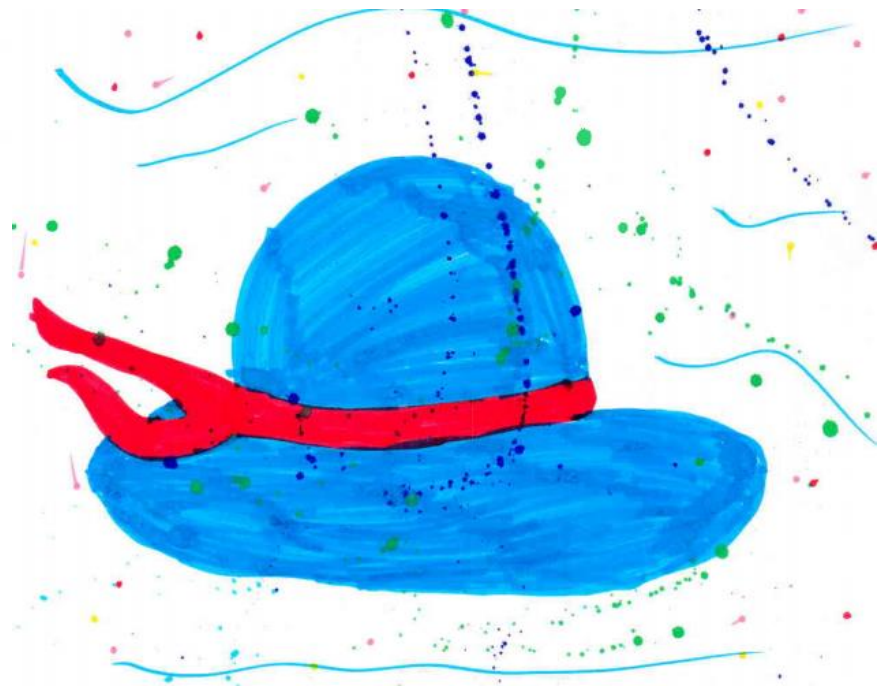

– a story by Steve Antony and our children

The Queen was on her way to visit someone very special when the wind went whoosh ...

But what does the Queen's hat look like?
Some children thinks it looks like this ..

or this..

or this..

or maybe even this..

or this..

or this..

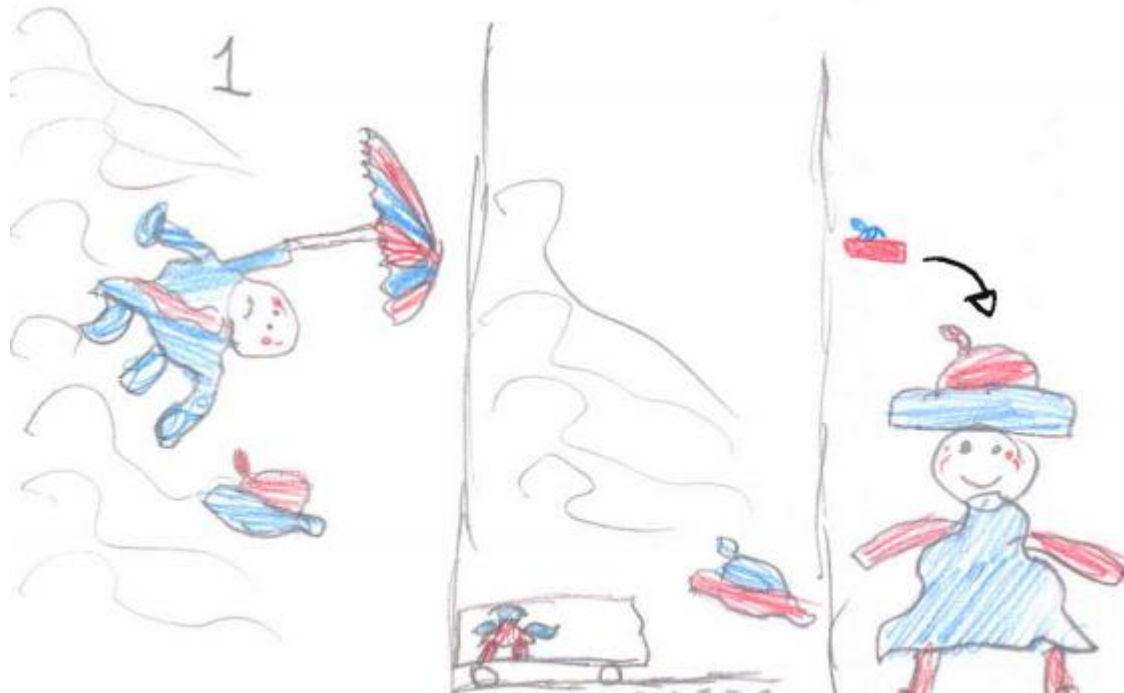

or maybe even this..

The wind blew the Queen's hat over Big Ben, around Trafalgar Square, through London Zoo until

(Let's see how our children end the story.)

The queen went down and got in a tram. Finally,
the wind stopped blowing and the hat fell on the queen's head.

The queen catches the hat!!!!!!!

then the hat goes in to the castle her seat!

oh, no!
my hat!

Yes, my hat is in the bed

and then, the hat is landed
in the bed

The hat goes to that important person, and when she goes there, and the important person gives her the hat.

The queen catches the hat!
But then... more...

The wind takes
the queen and the hat to place they want.

When the hat went to the Big Ben and then down...

The hat was going up and down till...

The queen as she was going up and down she reached the hat and then the place she wanted to go!!!

The Queen's
hat

I find my Hat
